Weather Report

The havoc of cold continues on the Fort. The cold did not subside in the entire month of January. First the fog, then the clouds in the sky made the sunshine disappear and increased the cold. Due to the cold wave, the intensity of the sun reduced and people felt cold in the sun and had to resort to warm clothes inside the Houses too. The minimum temperature was recorded at 4.6 degrees Celsius, if the cold increases further, it can reach the figure of three degrees Celsius. However, in the meantime, the effect of fog will reduce, due to which the night temperature may drop by one to two degrees. The life on the Fort seems still but Sunshine is just round the corner!

How I see India in 2047

Aanya Pillai | IX C

I envision India as a more developed and advanced country in 2047. The nation's infrastructure will be more robust and well-connected and its education system will have seen significant improvements. India will have invested heavily in enhancing the quality of schools and colleges. By 2047, India is poised to become a technologically advanced nation. Furthermore, the country will celebrate its 100th year of independence from British rule. India has already made substantial progress over the past few decades and is poised to make even more significant strides in the next 25 years.

Sankranti at The Scindia School

Mr Sandeep Agarwal (Ex-Sh, 1980)

14th January 2024 will surely be a special day in my life, for it was the first time that I ever flew a kite. Though it may surely sound odd to many, it is the pure truth.

Enjoying kite flying on the Madhav field

I landed on the Fort with my heart aflutter at the very thought of it and my expectations were also fulfilled in toto. For, it was a carnival out there on the Madhav field, with the entire school, Principal and faculty members enjoying this lovely Sankranti festival to the fullest. The wind Gods were also kind to us, as they kept blowing on and on, so that our kites could keep flying up and high. Despite of my advancing years, it was the child in me that kept wanting for more. It was as if a void had been filled within or the fulfilment of a lifelong desire, maybe?

The presence of some young ladies from SKV, who had their brothers in our School, was also a welcome sight. This took me back to my own School days, when I used to visit SKV and get Rakhi tied by my sisters, who were studying there. I also recall that in addition to my own sisters, there would be at least a dozen other girls who would tie Rakhi on both my hands. It was surely a day well spent! Happy Sankranti to all my friends.

Magical Morning

Sparsh Tulsyan | VIII C

In the morning light, I rise
Birds chirp songs, the breeze surprises
The dew on grass, so fresh and new
A new day starts, what shall I do?
The sun climbs high, the clouds drift by
My heart feels happy, I want to fly
So let me run, let me explore
This magical world, forevermore.

Dreams do come true

Dhanraj Jajodia | XI D

Life is like a big puzzle, and our dreams are the colourful pieces that bring our hopes to life. Turning our dreams into reality isn't always easy, but it's the journey that makes the achievement special. There's a saying that goes, 'Success comes after hard work, not before.' Let's look at Thomas Edison's story—he failed a lot before finally creating the light bulb. His story shows us that problems are just challenges that can lead us to success.

Staying motivated is crucial for making dreams come true. Walt Disney once said, "If we have the courage to follow our dreams, they can all come true." This courage comes from believing in ourselves and our dreams. Many people have overcome difficulties because they dared to dream big and worked hard to make those dreams real. Dreams build a person and carves the person in every way possible. If one truly works hard and the dream comes true, then the smile that arises makes it all worth it. Life is like a song, and dreams give it the tune that moves us forward. Staying motivated is not a very difficult task, inspirations are all around us, we just need the eye to identify it. If you see, this article in itself can be a motivation!

Writing a Poem

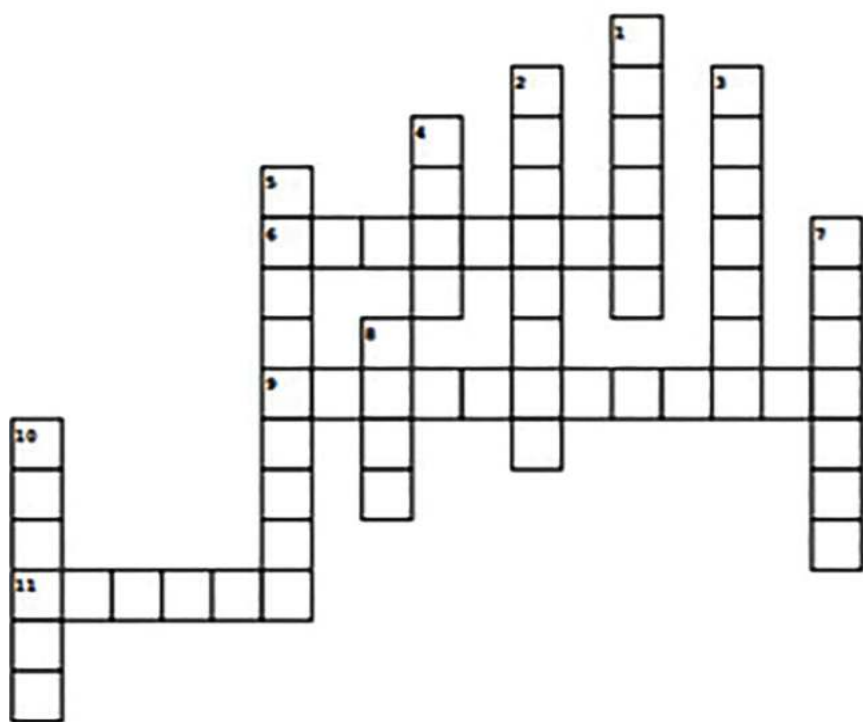

Vinayak Agarwal | VII C

Anyone can write a poem,
It just has a lot of rhyme,
Writing it feels like the best time
It can contain things that are defying,
In a poem, you can have a tree growing, or dying
something can be talking,
maybe even projecting something shocking!
But what you write you must know,
And not write just in the flow,

Anyone can write a poem,
It just has a lot of rhyme,
Writing it is like the best time
One can write things that are utopian
Creativity flows
While Intellect grows
That's how I wrote a poem!
